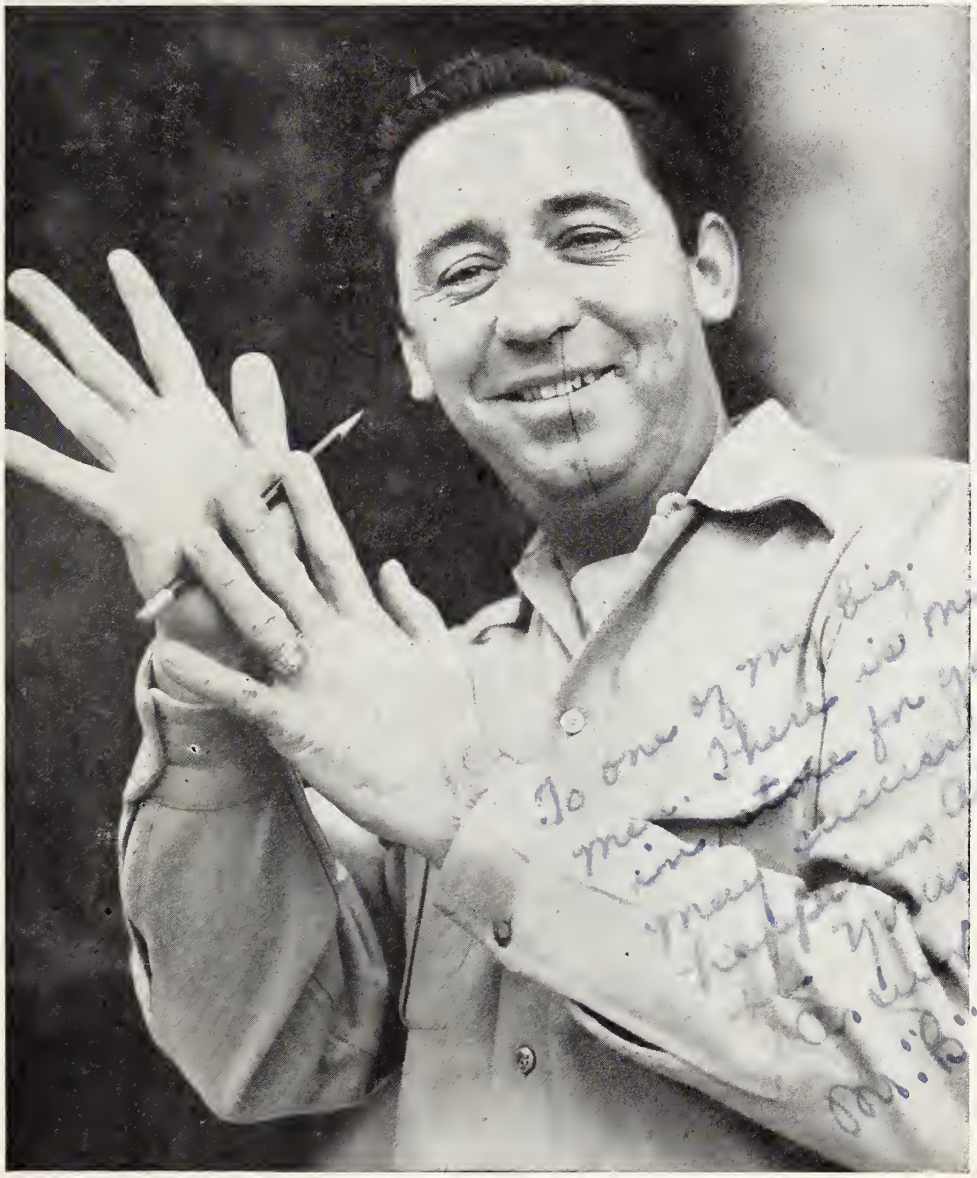
DEDICATION



MR. CLIFTON BRITTON

To Mr. "B" we dedicate this volume in sincere appreciation of his many hours of work with us as class advisor, unofficial annual advisor, and as our teacher and friend. He has given unstintedly of his time, ideas, and inspiration—thus spurring us ever forward to new and greater fields.

IN MEMORIAM

The staff wishes to dedicate this page to the memory of Miss Ruby Rosser, who will live on in the hearts of those who knew her. Such persons as our Miss Rosser never die, they only gain the robes of immortality. Her cheerful smile made us love her; her friendly counsel bound us to her; her marked sincerity gave us faith and trust in her; and her straightforward steps in righteous paths make us know that her earthly deeds to her many students and friends have now placed her where she may walk hand in hand with God.

MOTTO

"Knowledge is a treasure but practice is the key to it."

CLASS SONG

Classmates loyal and forever true,
We'll carry the torch everlastingly for you.
We're seniors together proud of yellow and white.
We'll prepare for the future and make the flame burn bright,
Be an example as long as we may,
Guiding the others coming our way.
Forget not each other, or the things that we do,
The pastimes, the future, our high school or you.

Classmates loyal and forever true
Bring back the traditions and honor anew
We're seniors together proud of yellow and white
United forever to prove that right is might!

HISTORY OF SENIOR CLASS

Ah, how well we seniors of '48 remember our first September in dear old G.H.S. "Greenies" was certainly an appropriate name for us for that's just what we were—all bewildered—eager freshmen—together, but so far apart.

We, the class of '48, began our freshman year by electing to lead us John Thompson, president; Mary Ann Ward, vice president; Polly Edgerton, secretary; and La Verne Tew, treasurer. The Cheerleaders were Mazelle King and D. J. Rose.

Our first project of the year was to sell monogramed stationery in order to raise money to carry on our various activities. Later we succeeded our fifty-dollar goal in the Junior Red Cross Drive and made very good showings in all the war bond drives.

As freshmen, we led the school in the number of Honor Roll students each quarter during the year.

That year's accomplishments set our class well on the way to a successful high school career and we began to feel we were a part of G.H.S.

During our sophomore year our class was headed by Myron Ennis, president; Jack Wilson, vice president; Lillian Overman, secretary; Bill Taylor, treasurer; and Eunice Bizzell and Ned Champion, cheerleaders.

At the beginning of this year we, together with the junior class of '45-'46, were co-sponsors of the annual Curtis Magazine drive.

There were two sophomore dramatic classes which played an important part in the Goldmasquers and made outstanding achievements.

It has been the tradition for the sophomore class to present the Easter program. We drew favorable comment on this project and ended our sophomore year successfully.

The following September, we found ourselves "Jolly Juniors," upper classmen at last!—But how little we knew what was ahead of us, for forthcoming was the Jr.-Sr. prom. Yet with such capable leaders as Miller Eason, president; Erline Griffin, vice president; Ruth Edgerton, secretary; Polly Edgerton, treasurer; and Peggy Littleton, serving with Paul Savage, as our cheerleaders, we came through with flying colors.

Our first major project for the year 1946-47 was the sale of magazine subscriptions for the Curtis Publishing Co. Since this was such a successful magazine drive and it left us with more money than was needed, we purchased a piano for the high school auditorium in April.

Junior Week beginning on April 28 and lasting through May 2, gave us an opportunity to revenge our initiation as freshmen. It preceded the junior play and was an important factor in the advertisement of the play, which was given on May 1-2. The marshals for the following year were named during this week and an edition of the Hi News was devoted to the juniors. The highlight of the week was the Jr.-Sr. prom. We finished this year with high hopes for the coming year in which we would be the leaders of our schools.

Another summer flown by found us in the fall of '47, "dignified seniors," whom we have looked up to all these years, firmly believing them to be our superiors. We took the honor of sitting in the front center section downstairs in assembly and always going first at lunch, but somehow we didn't feel as old and full of knowledge as we thought seniors should feel. Graduation is just around the corner which means we'll be leaving G.H.S.

For our senior leaders we elected: Davis Byrd, president; Eleanor Brown, vice president; Evelyn Barbee, secretary; Billy Howell, treasurer; and Louise York and Bill Taylor, cheerleaders.

Our first project this year was to be in charge of the Thanksgiving program.

For our senior play we presented "The Land Is Bright."

With the ending of this year we look ahead into the future—not for just another year as we have been doing, but forever. To us our school days seem to be our most important ones, like—"The beginning and the end." We look back eagerly and feel ahead for the new. The unattained lies out there waiting; so quickly, join hands and let us skip through life as successfully as we have through our high school days.

Christine Byrd, Historian

CLASS PROPHECY

Do you know Keefix? He knows you. I guess he knows just about everyone in G.H.S. with all the spying he does. Of course, you didn't realize it, but yesterday when you opened the library door, that wasn't its squeaking you heard — that was Keefix laughing. You see, idgits (Keefix is one) can disguise themselves so well, you hardly know they exist. And magic? Why, there's almost nothing an idgit can't do. That's why I went to Keefix about the annual. It took quite a bit of bribery (in the form of macaroons, his favorites) to win the little fellow over, but finally he agreed to help.

Idgits never do things in ordinary ways and Keefix was no exception. Late one afternoon I was in the locker getting my books to take home, when I heard strains of the wierdest music imaginable. At first I thought it was one of the band members catching up on practice, but after a moment, it became clear that this was something else. It came from no particular place and seemed mysteriously to take away the late afternoon light, leaving the room dark and shadowy. It made me dizzy and when I closed my eyes, I found that I couldn't open them. The music was lost in an even louder sound then—undescribable.

After a time, the noise faded away and as it did, the dizziness left me. I opened my eyes and looked about to see everything changed. Now, on each locker was a card telling its occupants and the room was decorated with surrealistic drawings. Oh, something was wrong! This was impossible! Then a piece of paper on the floor caught my attention. It was a calendar and it showed the date to be——1958!

Then I knew. This was Keefix's way of contributing to our annual. I walked down the hall peeking into some of the classrooms. Helen Nelson was there teaching English; Jean Lashley, Home Ec.; Barbara Hood, Math; and David Summerlin, Atomic Arts. Carolyne Hilton now held Mrs. Yelverton's place in the cafeteria.

The principal, James Tatum, was looking at the mail which had just arrived. He found the announcement of a new play opening on Broadway. It was Evelyn Southerland's "Ruth, Get Your Rifle" starring Polly Edgerton and directed by Ruth Shaver. The playbill stated that Ray Hardy is stage manager; Henrietta Parnell, wardrobe mistress; R. E. Holt, in charge of sets; Shirley James, set designer; and Charlie Darden, business manager.

In front of the school a taxi pulled to the curb and I saw with surprise that Virginia Keen was driving. She had gone into business as head of Keen's Quick Cab Service. I got in and for a block or two we chatted about the old days when we were members of the onliest class G.H.S. ever had.

Suddenly Virginia stepped on the gas and drove up on the sidewalk just in time to avoid a wreck with the ambulance streaking past, Harold Caudill at its wheel. Following the ambulance came another vehicle charging down the street. It was Betty Bedford, M.D., with her nurse, Christine Byrd. Virginia wasn't at all disturbed. She said that almost every day they go flying past — usually in the same direction. It seems that the Dowlin-Byrd Experimental Laboratory is just down the street. Wonder what kind of explosion it was this time.

We passed the new Taylor Hospital financed by millionaire Bill Taylor. Dorothy Lahr and Elwina Miller are outstanding among its staff.

We stopped and offered a lift to two girls—er, women—coming towards us dressed in the latest Vera Lee fashions.

Vera Lee has studios in New York now where her creations are shown by the lovely Best (Joyce Best) Models. La Verne Tew, Faye Branch, and Lou York were becoming famous in this field.

The two women that got into the taxi with us were none other than Lillian Overman, Girl Scout Director, and Mary Ann Ward, Home Demonstration Agent. Lillian showed me a copy of "McCalls" magazine edited by Marilyn Tolochko. Reba Carraway was listed as fashion editor and Billy Howell, James Rountree, and Ann Houser, as part of the art staff. Mary Emma Hardy's third novel illustrated by Paul Carraway began its installments in this month's issue. An article by sportswriter Kennith Waters interviewed Evelyn Barbee, who will compete in this year's Olympics for the international swimming championship. "McCalls" feature story told of the Met's greatest singer, Harvey Barwick.

As the cab passed the Methodist Church, I saw a flash of red hair and on looking again, found that its owner was Janie Bartlette, wife of the minister. It has been said that her husband preaches to her on Sunday, but that she preaches to him all the rest of the week. We stopped a moment and Janie told us something of the married folks. Jo Jackson lives in Memphis now; Molly Grady, in Arizona; Blanche West and Nona Grey Best, here in Goldsboro; Tommie Crocker, in New York; Frank Perry, in Wilmington; Sam Lynch, in Florida; and Ruth Edgerton, in —you guessed it—Wake Forest. Oh, and I mustn't forget—Eleanor Brown was married last week for the third time.

El and her latest husband will make their home in Neuse Park, the fashionable residential section out near Rouse Bridge (a structure held up by supersonic cables and so divided that each vehicle is radiumized, electronized, and re-atomized as it passes through). Acker Avenue, Eason Boulevard, and Edwards Terrace are some of the streets in Neuse Park named for Goldsboro's three outstanding architects who designed the ultra-modern homes there. Oh, yes—and there's Eunie Drive for Eunice Bizzell who is an interior decorator now.

From the cab, Center street appeared quite changed and I made Virginia drive slowly, so I could see everything.

Jo Ann Flowers was walking up the steps of Charlie Crone's Law office, where she works as secretary. Dr. Modlin (Dentist) also has his office in the building. I hear that they do quite a bit of complaining about the noise upstairs. Could it be that they don't appreciate good tap dancing? The Best and Radford (Libby and Mildred) Tap Dancing School there is said to be one of the finest in the nation.

We let Lillian and Mary Ann out at the Opera Shoppe, run by Betsy Peele. Bill Edwards was there. Yep, same old Bill!

The nickelodeon was playing D. J. Rose's latest song hit, "My Sweet Little Home Demonstration Agent," sung by swoon king Carlton Frederick.

A sign next-door proclaimed Gilda's Gift Shop. Her two helpers, Zelda Potter and Mary Sykes, were busily arranging the window display, some of artist Lillie Smith's animal sketches.

Virginia pointed out a new building going up and said that it is another in Lindy Saul's chain of drug stores.

I recognized lots of names on various signs down town. There were Howell and Worrell Furniture Company, Hamil's Butcher Shop, the Wilson Book Store, Sasser's Electrical Appliance Company, and Frances' Fashions. This last establishment is owned by Frances Myers, run by Frances Millard, and its stock, selected by Frances Fulghum. Whew, what a combination!

Carolyn Lancaster operates a beauty salon. William Heeden is Fire Chief, with Fred Tyndall, Albert Pate, Tom Price, Nathan Ham, and Bill Summerlin firemen.

When our taxi stopped for the light at Center and Walnut, we saw several familiar faces along the street. Ann Aycock, Wilma Ginn, and Martha Wise were shopping. Polly Combs had told them of an antique sale and the three hurried on their way without seeing us.

Addie Pilkington seemed to be having a big argument with the dogcatcher, Bill Hart. She finally rescued her pooch and walked away to tell Billy Dove about it. Miss Hilton is a receptionist now.

Although the stoplight had changed color, the line of cars remained motionless while Viola Carr endeavored to start her jet-propelled Lincoln. The thing is so old now that sometimes it won't do a thing right. Policeman "Tut" Shumate left his conversation with patrolman Billy Thompson to ask Maxine Ennis in her helicopter to push the stalled auto into a vacant parking space. With a whirl of propellers Maxine did so, and we were once more on our way.

Virginia pointed out the modern News Argus building, and we stopped in front of it to see if Alese Edgerton wanted a lift. Alese refused saying that Virginia Carter and Lois Johnson were on their way over, but she gave us a copy of the night's paper.

From its headlines I judged that Goldsboro was quite excited about last week's return visit of the star radio performer, Anna Frank (the Strosnider dropped for publicity purposes).

The News Argus was now edited by Susie Coward and its cartoons drawn by Gerald Massengill.

I found several interesting pieces of news. Eloise Balkcum has made her second tour of Europe singing for royalty in half its countries.

Mayor Moon—Myron, that is—Ennis appeared last night on Tootsie Crocker and George Kannan's television program. Crocker and Kannan are a popular comedian team now. Elizabeth Garris will star in the ballet to be given in Raleigh soon. Anne Boyette is overseas with the state department.

The paper said that Travis Rose has a good chance of winning the 1958 National Jitterbug Contest. If so, it will be for the third consecutive year.

James Parker has been chosen basketball coach at the University of North Carolina.

In the bottom corner of the page was an item saying that the Dix Hill population had been increased by one when psychiatrists examined Jim Evans. Evans was caught trying to shovel snow off Florida rooftops. Poor Jim! They'll miss him at Donald Pike's Wholesale Elephant Store.

I noticed that one of the News Argus ads, a radio designed by David Holder, was endorsed by Bobby Hill. Bobby must be a big shot in the radio world.

And Bo Kannan? Why, here was an announcement that the celebrated Clara Kannan is singing in Elbert Sill's night club this week.

On the front page of the paper was a picture of John Thompson with the $5,000,000.03 he won last night at Casey's Gambling House. Mr. Thompson is said to have figured out an ingenious method that hadn't lost yet. Go, John!

We passed the traveling library truck driven by Hugh Pope with Louise Medlin as librarian. Catherine Strickland is in charge at the Wayne County Public Library now.

Charlie Westbrook and Raymond Grey waved to us from where they were putting up campaign posters for John Kleinert for senator. Another even more unbelievable sign advertized Joe Bazemore's Dare-Devil Air Show with Erline Griffin, "Queen of the Air"—also pilots Ashley Hopewell and Dan Ward.

I called Virginia's attention to the sign and she turned to look just as a green Dodge swung around the corner. It was Mimi Weil on her way to the J. W. Brock Garage to have her brakes checked. Virginia wasn't so quick at reaching the sidewalk this time, and the two cars collided with a BANG! No casualties, though—except me. My head hit the windshield and then everything seemed to spin around in circles.

When things righted themselves, I found myself back in the locker room and it was 1948 again. There beside me stood Erline grinning impishly, the book she had just hit me with in her hand. I gathered up my belongings, looked at Ennie, and began to laugh uproariously—not at her, but at the little idgit, Keefix, perched there on her shoulder!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the class of '48, being of sound body (as much as is possible after changing classes) and of sound mind (no remarks from the faculty, please!) and being in a generous mood, do hereby dispose and bequeath our most treasured traits and prized possessions in this, our last will and testament.

We are indeed sorry to be forced to deprive our school and classmates of our honored presence. May the examinations, traffic jams in the halls, report cards, noises from the typing room, and odors from the lab remind all those who come after us of the hardy souls through whose kind hearts they claim these beneficiences as their very own.

Article I: To the faculty we leave our sincere appreciation for the cheerful aid and guidance they have always given us.

Article II: To the halls of G.H.S.; may you have more light in the future than you have had in the past.

Article III: To the rising Sophomores; the scalpels we once used—and here's hoping you have fun dissecting those poor helpless animals.

Article IV: Juniors, you have our sympathy when the United States History report cards come out!

Article V: And, dear rising Seniors, may you study as hard as Janie Bartlette, worry about your grades as much as "Frankie" Strosnider, talk as much as Ruth Shaver (poor teachers!!!), write letters like "Jo" Jackson, and may you have as much fun as I have had!!!!

Article VI: Our personal bequests:

Henry Modlin wills his intelligence to that rising Senior who is so in need of it, Dana James Gulley.

Fred Tyndall leaves his basketball shoes to the dear soul who took them.

Erline Griffin leaves her walk to Libby Lou Stuart.

Barbara Hood is leaving those Mount Olive boys to anyone who is in need of a date.

Eleanor Brown leaves her ability to be kicked out of Spanish to Patsy Donnell.

"Tut" Shumate leaves his banana nose to the fruit bowl.

"Frankie" Strosnider gives her excess weight to the Charles Atlas of G.H.S., Elton Warrick.

Eloise Balkcum leaves her voice to that shrill young lady, Ann Acker.

"Tommie" Crocker leaves her car to the next girl who goes with Gordon.

Maxine Ennis leaves her figure to Martha Ann Rose; a girl in need, if ever I saw one.

Sam Lynch leaves - - - - - - - - hoping never to return!!!

"Bo" Kannan is giving her hair coloring secrets to Margaret Bissette.

William Heeden gladly wills his ability to get beat up on the football field to anyone sucker enough to accept it.

Betsy Peele leaves her ribbons and bows to Sybil Parrish.

Archie Hamil leaves his physique to Jimmy Ellis.

Carolyne Hilton leaves her many clothes to Joyce Bagley.

Billy Thompson, alias "Tarzan," leaves his favorite vines to any athletic dope who can swing on them.

Mary Frances Millard's shorthand ability is for Joyce Carter.

Having an ample supply of freckles, James Parker leaves all his to anyone who wants them.

Reba Carraway's silver shoes go to "Mitzie" Edmundson.

Ann Aycock willingly leaves 25 pounds to Louise Odom.

Bill Edwards gives five inches of his height to Jimmy Thomas.

Alese Edgerton leaves her rowdy personality to Joyce Radford.

Mildred Radford's hair goes to Kitty Keller who could use some of the curl.

Ann Houser leaves her gigantic stature to that short, stumpy, rising Junior, Hugh Shine.

Flash!!!! From Kennith Waters: The poolroom doors are now open to anyone willing to transfer his name to "Lonnie."

Faye Branch leaves her ability to borrow (??!!) typing paper to the next year's typing students who may be in need of same.

Vera Lee Gainey leaves her space in "Can You Take It" and all her sympathy to the poor soul who gets picked on next year.

Lois Johnson's blond hair goes to Camille Farfour.

Bill Taylor bequeaths his special reserved seat in the Opera Shoppe to Bud Wallace in hopes that it will keep him out of the poolroom.

"Moon" Ennis leaves his car to anyone who can keep it running.

Ruth Shaver leaves her ability to get into trouble to anyone willing to accept the responsibility.

Joyce Best leaves her typing "wizardness" to Lillian Pate.

Virginia Keen leaves her unbendable body to that double-jointed Edna Mitchell.

Janie Bartlette isn't leaving her books to anyone for fear she will need them later.

La Verne Tew leaves her hair to Janet Cook (who needs it!).

Polly Edgerton's sleeping in class goes to Dorothy Crawford.

Jane Parker leaves her place as youngest in the class to J. P. Keen.

Marilyn Tolochko leaves her seat in the journalism class to any rising Sophomore who is interested in having it for three years.

Charlie Crone leaves his ability to do English homework during Spanish class to anyone slick enough to get by Miss Brooks.

Ruth Edgerton isn't leaving Wake Forest to anyone. And do you blame her??!!

Mary Olive Grady leaves Bill (Bill Thompson, Bill Davis, Bill Wooten, and Bill Edwards, that is !!!)to Lillian Pate, Joyce Carter, Ollie Tyndall, and Louise Odom respectively.

Libby Best leaves her friendly smile in the waste basket to Jo Ann Crumpler in hopes that she will find it.

Donald Pike's barber is getting a new customer these days, Troy Pate.

George Kannan leaves his football shoes to whomever decided they needed them worse than he.

Henry Edwards and Ed Strickland will their ability to sell ads to Albert Pate.

"Jo" Jackson leaves her weight to Ann Smith, hoping that she will take the hint.

"Tootsie" Crocker leaves her joke telling ability to Millie Cobb.

Joe Bazemore leaves his daring flying to that hale and hearty gentleman, Irving Ennis.

Mimi Weil leaves her knack for having wrecks to James Seay.

Thus ends our Last Will and Testament.

Respectfully,

MARY OLIVE GRADY

Lavender and white, dear,
Our pledge we make to you,
A royal class with colors bright,
The class of dear fifty.
Oh, may we keep before us
Our symbols shining light,
Our colors leading
Our class proceeding
We follow on to victory and to might.

Here's to our dear old High School
Our loyalty we bring,
And as we enter into the portals
Our honors we proclaim;
So sing thy students
Goldsboro High School
The class of dear fifty
For we shall keep our colors
Bright, Goldsboro, dear, for you.

BAND HISTORY

The GHS band was organized for the first time in four years by Mr. Roy L. Russell, in 1946. It made fast progress in its first year and went on approximately six out-of-town trips, including Greenville and Greensboro, where it entered the district and state music festivals. It made its first public appearance at the Goldsboro vs. Henderson football game in '46. The band also gave two concerts that year. As a climax to the year's progress, a cup was awarded to Kenneth Fulghum for his outstanding band work.

The first year band officers were as follows: President, Kenneth Fulghum; vice president, Libby Lou Stuart; librarian, Audrey Garris.

Now the band is under the direction of Mr. John B. Thompson. He succeeds Mr. Russell, who resigned to take the position of band director in Elizabeth City. Mr. Thompson hails from New York. Last year he instructed the Roxboro High School band.

The band answered the calls of civic activities as well as those of the school. It has received donations from many civic organizations, including the Shrine Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. These donations were used for new instruments, music, and repairs on the instruments.

The organization also attended the Music Festival during the spring, and several members attended the State Band clinic. The highlight of the year was the combination band and glee club concert.

The officers for this year are as follows:

President ..... HAROLD CAUDILL
Vice president ..... RONALD PERCISE
Librarian ..... ADALINE VANN

During the year a "Swing Band" was organized by several members of the band and directed by Mr. Thompson. This band played for social functions during the latter part of the year.

The members are: Ray Bryan, Harold Caudill, Kenneth Fulghum, David Holder, Betty Hollowell, Frances Hollowell, Mary Grey Hollowell, Stuart Jones, Ronald Percise, Worth Potter, David Summerlin, and Mr. Thompson.

The GHS band will continue functioning throughout the summer months.
We are looking forward to "putting our band over the top."

This year the glee club is directed by Mr. John B. Thompson. It participated in various school activities during the year.

This is the second year that Goldsboro High School has had a Mixed Glee Club since 1941. The most outstanding event of the school year was the participation of the Glee Club in the statewide music festival which was held in Greensboro, North Carolina.

In 1946 the Girls Glee Club was organized under the direction of Mr. Roy Russell. The year started with a hope of success. Buckling down to learning various melodies, the Girls Glee Club performd in numerous programs. Two of the outstanding events were entering the statewide music festivals held at Greenville and Greensboro, and the musical concert given on the stage of the Goldsboro High School auditorium.

This year, under the leadership of Mr. Thompson, the Girls Glee Club reentered the statewide music festivals at Greenville and Greensboro.

The aim of the Girls Glee Club is to give the best performance that is within their power.

The combined concert at the end of the year of both Glee Clubs and the Band, climaxed musical activities of the year.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club was organized May 25, 1947, for the purpose of creating a greater interest in the French language. The club's project for the year was to send packages to a French child through the American Aid to France.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

The course in Distributive Education was organized in Goldsboro High School in 1941, for the purpose of enabling students in distributive occupations to improve themselves occupationally and to make progress in their field of employment. Since its beginning it has proved very successful in aiding both the students and merchants, and in bringing the school and community closer together.

DE students have classes in Distributive Education each day, in addition to two other classes, one of which must be English. They attend school until twelve-forty, when they leave for their respective jobs. They work at these jobs at least fifteen hours a week, and receive three high school credits for this course. In order that each student may be placed in the job best suited to him, the individual's personality is studied in class. The student then makes a special study of work related to his job. He also learns salesmanship, store organization, and management. The coordinator supervises the student while at work. The employer of each DE student grades the student he has employed, and gives a report at the same time the school report card is issued.

The types of work in which the students are engaged are not limited. They are employed in department stores, variety stores, drug stores, grocery stores, newspaper office, laundries and filling stations.

Students earn around $11,000 each year. A total of 225 students have taken DE at Goldsboro High School.

Miss Frances Bayne has been coordinator of Distributive Education since it was made a part of the Goldsboro High School program. Her excellent work in guiding and instructing her students has contributed greatly to the success of the department.

The DE sudents this year are: Charles Milton Acker, Janet Britt, Evelyn Boyette, Charles Brown, Edmond Brown, Paul Carraway, Aline Casey, Paul Combs, Billy Cooke, Betty Gray Denning, Bill Edwards, Edmond Faircloth, Thurston Garris, Raymond Gray, Mary Hardy, Blaney Hill, R. The Goldmasquers were reorganized during the winter of 1942 with twenty-six members. The purpose of this organization is to give its members practical experience in interpreting and producing outstanding plays, to promote community interest in the dramatic activities of the school, to develop the creative talent of the students of the school, to encourage the reading and witnessing of better plays, and to promote an enthusiasm for the drama in all its phases. Membership has grown each year, and the total enrollment in the Goldmasquers this season was one hundred and forty-three.

The Goldmasquers started off the 1947-48 season with the comedy, "Nothing But the Truth." This was followed by a Christmas pageant, "The Shepherd's Song," which was presented for five nights from the terrace of the Hotel Goldsboro. The next production was "The Land Is Bright," which was given by the Goldmasquers in collaboration with the Senior class. After that "Brief Candle," the Junior play, was presented.

Because of the Goldmasquers' outstanding work and reputation, they were invited to perform at Chapel Hill and at the New York State Teachers College in Cortland, New York.

RADIO WORKSHOP

In the summer of 1945 the construction of the Goldmasquers Radio Workshop was begun. When the studios were finished the following March, Goldsboro High School became one of the three schools in the country to have such complete broadcasting equipment.

The main objective of the workshop, which is dedicated to the high school graduates who lost their lives in World War II, is to give dramatic art students an opportunity of working in radio as well as on the stage. The studios, conceived and constructed by students, are now being operated by them.

The four divisions of the studio are: the production office, control room, editing and auditioning room, and the broadcasting studio. The main stage can be used as a large broadcasting studio on certain occasions. The control room is equipped with a console, two turntables, a studioette, and a fine musical library containing over 200 albums of records.

Since the opening of the studios, over 2,000 people have visited them, including guests from the University of North Carolina, Swathmore College in Baltimore, the National Broadcasting Company, and South America.

These studios, which have become noted not only for their beauty but for the quality of the work accomplished there, are striving to attain new standards for high school radio productions.

Radio is an invention which allows one man in a single moment of time to be heard by millions of human beings. It is a device for transporting noise from one place to another.

A medium with such potentialities should be in good hands. The broadcasters to come must be men and women who are skilled in the use of their medium, and who have a deep sense of the power they hold and of the obligation to use it well.

The training of men and women to use the medium of radio is a thing too important to be left to chance. It is one of the most significant tasks confronting contemporary education. So far, the results of our attempts at training people for radio have not been encouraging. Professional radio people have been too busy to do the job. Teachers, for the most part, have not been sufficiently well-informed to do it, and there was mutual distrust between the two. Schools looked on broadcasters as crass commercialists; broadcasters looked on school teachers as ivory-tower inhabitants—too impractical to do the job. Meantime, young people in high school and college with a serious interest in radio had no place to turn.

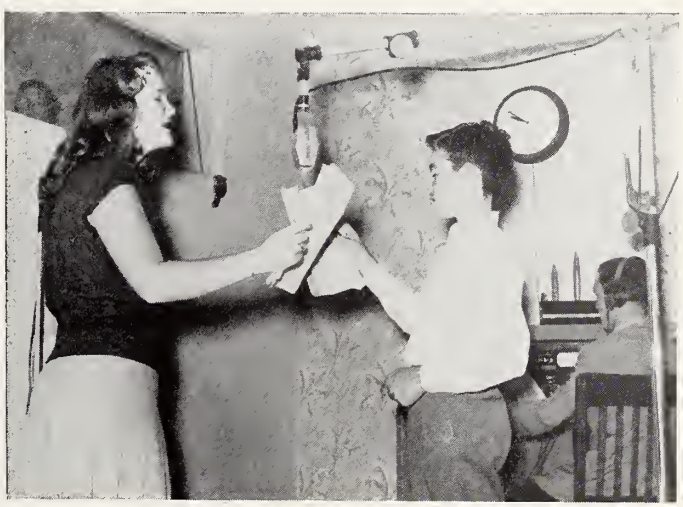
It seems obvious that schools know the problems of pedagogy; broadcasters knew their subject matter. If the broadcasters could be made into teachers and teachers into broadcasters, their combined efforts might result in training for radio that would be both academically sound and professionally practicable. It was this thought that was behind the formation of the Goldsboro High School Radio Workshop.

It is from such a workshop that our youth may develop their talents. They will be painters who use a loud-speaker for their canvas; voice, music, sound effects for their colors; and a mixing panel for their palette.

The new generations interested in radio should try to "shoot for the moon." The future excellence of this great medium depends on developing a class of artists, directors, and technicians who will learn what they can from the present pioneers in the field, take what is good, and go on from there. We must develop men and women with the standard of the Goldmasquers' motto, "It must be better than this."

IN THE RADIO WORKSHOP

Jerry Sandford, one of the reporters on the weekly program "Slate Notes," which tells the happenings in the Wayne County schools.



Anna Frank Strosnider and Jimmy Ellis during a scene from "Legend of Dust," broadcast first over the Tobacco FM network and later over the Dixie FM network. At the extreme left Troy Pate is pictured in the control room and at the right Bobby Hill is seated at a turntable.

Anna Frank Strosnider is shown laughing hysterically in a scene from the network show "Legend of Dust."

Josephine Jackson, Janie Bartlette, Patsy Donnell, Marilyn Tolochko, Polly Edgerton, and Mary Olive Grady during a chorus scene from "Legend of Dust."

HISTORY OF THE VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club is an organization made up of boys who have won letters in football, baseball, or basketball, or have been voted worthy of membership.

The Varsity Club was first organized by members of the Monogram Club. They elected as their officers Mac Lewis, president; Erskine Pope, vice president; Ernest Graham, recording secretary; James Renn, corresponding secretary; and Leon Perry, treasurer.

Throughout the year the Varsity Club cooperates with other school activities. It sponsors a play and a dance which give the athletes a chance to try their mettle off the field and court. The climax of the year's work comes with the presentation of the Varsity Play and the Varsity Dance.

The present officers of the club are Miller Eason, president; Moon Ennis, vice president; John Thompson, corresponding secretary; Sam Lynch, recording secretary; and Cotton Kluttz, treasurer. This year the club is under the guidance of Coach Norris Jeffery, director of athletics, and Mr. Clifton Britton, head of the dramatic art department.

VARSITY SWEETHEART

John Thompson presents the 1948 Varsity Club Sweetheart, Miss Anna Frank Strosnider.

History Of Sweethearts

Each year the members of the Varsity Club elect a girl from the Senior Class as their sweetheart. The selection is based on personality and scholarship. This year, as Varsity Sweetheart, Anna Frank Strosnider reigns over the annual formal Varsity Club dance on May 29th. In previous years the honor has been given to the following: Sally Lee, 1944; Marjorie Cheever, 1945; Gaynelle Sauls, 1946; and Ida Lewis Langston, 1947.
